

William M. Barron

Retta Bede

FACULTY

Practically anytime during the day Mr. William Barron may be found in the motors workshop tuning up a cranky old engine or supervising the diligent work of a greasy student. In his ever popular motors and field machinery classes, student interest is increased by his sincerity and good humor as well as his complete knowledge of the subject.

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse," is a famous saying of conscientious, hard working Miss Retta Bede, who eagerly looks after the well-being of every girl on the campus. Many of the interesting anecdotes that she relates in her cooking classes are concerned with her experiences in her home town, Duluth. Her remarkable memory for people is a constant source of amazement for parents as well as students.

Edwin F. Bennett

Even though busy all day, cordial Mr. Edwin F. Bennett always finds time to greet everyone he meets. His cross country, swimming, and wrestling teams reflect his able coaching and encouragement. He makes an honest effort to turn out good teams every year whether he is supplied with talented personnel or not. In his measured spare time he shows a fondness for his cameras.

Bruce C. Beresford

If you should visit the station during the summer, you would very likely see a man, pipe in mouth and a tattered old hat on his head, working in the flower gardens on the campus. A class on fruits, vegetables, flowers, or botany from well-informed Mr. Beresford proves to be very interesting and enlightening.
