

Here is the campus brain trust and its collective mouth piece.

Membership in the National Honor Society, a nationwide organization made up of students who are outstanding in school activities, is considered a great achievement.

Members are chosen from the third and fourth year classes on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

Good character is based on dependability, honesty, and courtesy. Members and prospective members of the National Honor Society demonstrate leadership and service to the school.

National Honor Society

Seated: Ronald Dahl, Mr. Reiersgord, Alice McDonald, John Johnson.

Standing: Roger Kasprick, Ardis Overgaard, Estle Eiset, Alice Nordgaarden.

These debate students are discussing this year's high school topic with Miss Kjørli's advice. The question is, "Resolved: that the American people should reject the Welfare State."

Since this year's topic is being debated vigorously from general stores to the halls of Congress, it is a subject which interests everyone.

The high point of the year is the opportunity to debate with the team from the Morris Ag. school. Each year they send their negative team to Crookston, and our negative team travels to Morris.

Debate

Richard Swenson, Ted Aas, John Johnson, Betty Ann Johnson, Miss Kjørli, Robert Glass, Maxine Moritz, Alice Grove.