Swimming

Under coach Phil Larson, the 1952-53 swimming team had quite an unusual season with a schedule of only four competitive meets. Quantity did not affect quality in this case, and the boys found competition in these four teams. They came through with flying colors in true Aggie style. Swimming offers a chance to build body co-ordination, improve reflexes, and to learn good sportsmanship, which is an outstanding feature of all Northwest School athletics.

Kick, kick, kick.

Practice makes perfect.
