As sophomores we returned this year with the good feeling of being upper classmen. After a few days we found ourselves in the regular school routine again.

Last year, besides our academic learning, we also learned to live together away from home. As freshmen we gradually learned to accept more responsibilities. Our special responsibilities this year included assisting with the putting on of the Junior and Senior banquet and working on the Department section of the "Aggie."

This year's sophomore class consists of 102 students, 87 boys and 15 girls.

We have two very fine class advisors, Miss Ellen Ramstad and Mr. Lloyd Nystrom. They help us conduct our class meetings, plan parties, and assist us in various other undertakings for which our class is responsible.
