We the Senior class, on behalf of the student body, wish to express our gratitude to you, the administration and faculty, of our school.

You, the faculty, have worked with us and tried to guide us through the conflicting years of high school adolescence. We are appreciative of the time you have spent with us and the encouragement you would give us when things didn't run as smoothly as they should have. Thanks for helping us to grow up and become the type of citizens of our country that we ought to be.

To you, Superintendent Youngquist and Principal Reiersgord, we say thanks for giving us an efficiently run school.

This school is close to us. We will leave behind many happy memories. We will always remember the old Hill Building as a place of hard work, and a few laughs, at times, that would make the work a little easier. It was in that building, in the somewhat inadequate classrooms, that we acquired much of our academic learning.

You, the administration, could see and understand the difficulties for your faculty and students in the teaching-learning situation that this building presented. You worked hard to find an answer to this problem. Your labors were worthy, and therefore successful. You, to a very great extent, have been responsible for the beautiful new classroom building that has risen along side the old Hill Building.

You, the administration, have and are now laboring always for the best for students and faculty. When we arrived on campus this fall, we saw the new classroom building half completed. Robertson Hall was completely remodeled. In other buildings on campus, floors have been refinished and rooms completely redecorated. We appreciate your labors in making the teaching-learning situation as ideal as possible.
