Every student at the NWSA has some talent, no matter insignificant or valuable, to contribute to this school; some are leaders, some are followers but all are necessary for the growth and progress of the school.

The achievements of many students have been outstanding and have brought recognition to themselves and this school. The achievements of other students, although just as valuable, have not gained this recognition or are just in the process of being developed.

It is a difficult task to select an individual from the Junior Class, whose accomplishments have been more outstanding than his friends.
