

Prom

All winter long everyone waits for the time when they can dust off their suits and remove their formals from the storage closet. It's time for the Prom.

The theme for the Prom was "SAYNORA" which means "till we meet again."

Our prom, held on the night of March 12th, was the climax of our Junior year. By nine o'clock, the gymnasium was filled with handsome young men in their Sunday best, and lovely young ladies in gowns of silk and lace. This night of splendor has ended, but it will always live in our memories.

The Dining Hall was all decked out for the Junior-Senior Banquet. All the tables were decorated with sparkling candles set in a sparkly sea foam, and at each setting there were place setting cards and a menu.

"Ma" Brown and her dining hall employees planned a very delicious meal, which consisted of: Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, gravy, peas, bread and butter, and last but not least the dessert, Apple Crisp, which everybody was anxiously waiting for. It seems that the dessert is always the favorite of the students, and we were sure that everyone could have eaten all night, but we all wanted to go to the Gym and dance to the "dreamy" orchestra that was hired for this special occasion.
