Varsity Basketball Squad

Coach Lysaker and Captain "Dick" Olson.

With the team hard hit by graduation and illness, Coach Lysaker faced a major rebuilding job for the 1961-62 season. However, games can be won when unselfish team play and good sportsmanship are practiced, as exemplified in the aspirants who diligently practiced every evening in hopes of making the starting five.

Captain Dick Olson, the only returning regular, was the tallest man on the squad at 6 feet, 2 inches. The only other six-footer was Ernie Swift. The juniors, especially at the guard spots, showed a lot of promise.

The loyal fans and schoolmates of the Aggie team are pleased with the brand of entertaining ball the boys have played thus far. The team is using a zone defense and a screening offense based on fast breaks.
