Miss Lilie Christianson, Mrs. Esther Erlandson.

Mrs. (Tillie) Gebhardt.

Office Secretaries

Each has her own job, but they all work together to keep the different offices running smoothly and everybody happy. Miss Nelson has a job that does not give her very much time for anything but work during the day. She is our Librarian, which means that she must order all of the new books and magazines that will be added to our book shelves. Along with this job she is kept very busy working as secretary for our principal Mr. Reiersgord. The two friendly faces that are always seen behind the bars of the room next to the superintendent's office, are those of Mrs. Erlandson, and Miss Lillian Christianson. These two charming ladies are the ones all of the faculty and students who work for the University like to meet quite often. Their job is to handle the pay-roll, and collect the tuition from the students. They are known to all as "the accountants."

A friendly greeting is always given to all who pass by the open door of the faculty secretary, Mrs. "Butch" Gebhardt. "Tillie," as she is known to everyone, has the very tiring job of typing out all the correspondence for the men in the experiment end of this Institution.

Miss M. Fylling, Mrs. H. Buckley. Private Secretaries to Dr. Youngquist.
