

Home Ec Builds for the Future

Girls at our school take advantage of their opportunities to prepare for their role as homemakers. In preparing for this, their experiences vary from sewing a fine seam to the study of family relations. A continual round of parties and hospitality meals is evidence that the girls know how to put their knowledge into practice. Fellows beware! Some of the girls already have their "dream homes" planned and are looking for their dream man to finance it.

In the Home Management apartment, we learn how to plan balanced diets, budget, set tables, plan meals, and explore a preparation of a meal with the kind of timing that assures everything will be ready at once. Failure only made us determined to improve.
