

A Stick in Time Saves Nine

Everyone notices the square brick building in back of Bede Hall. After all, hasn't everyone been scared by those little square needles? Or maybe it's those pink sugar lumps, so delicious that some even tried to go back for seconds.

Some students found out that the Health Service is no place to go if you want to skip class. Mrs. Kruta sends them merrily on their way--well, on their way at least.

