

With such a crowd of people around, it may surprise you that we got anything done. After some confusion we seemed to get organized and we were able to get down to business. Everyone seems happy, they must have forgotten about the deadline.

