

Good Food Is Their Specialty

Mrs. Brown is responsible for the operation of our dining hall. She also assists Mr. Lysaker in counseling with the girls.

It is said that an army runs on its stomach and the Northwest School is no exception to this phrase. But in order to make us "operate," the women and men of the dining hall have a major task. Nevertheless, they do succeed under the careful guidance of Mrs. Brown, our dietician.

Mr. Moen keeps rather busy just about any day cutting up hundreds of pounds of meat to be used for meals.

Each day Mrs. Harris opens the student bookstore. This is just one of the facilities of the dining hall.

Mrs. McEwen and Mrs. Johnson cook all of the pastries that are used each day.

Working at the steam table are Mrs. Westby, Mrs. Langseth, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Iwen.
