

MR. REIERSGORD
PRINCIPAL

If you would choose the choicest book,
Select the one that's soiled and worn;
And as you finger through its leaves
You'll see how they are curled and torn.

The book, by use, acquired these marks,
Which show on every leaf and page
That eager eyes have scanned the text
To garner wisdom . . .

--Author Unknown