

The National Honor Society

Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the qualities that are considered in the selection of members of the National Honor Society. In addition one must maintain a 3.00 average through out his high school years. Six juniors and six seniors are selected to the society annually by the faculty and by the former members. The activities of the society are limited. However, it does take on several responsibilities such as registering parents on Parents Day and selling candy at basketball games.
