

Aggie Board

A place on the Aggie staff means many hours of sacrifice both to studies and other activities including free time. Those who are on the staff know that a book the size of ours is normally produced over a period of nine months, while ours is ready for the publisher in two months. When the Aggies arrive, near the end of March, excitement reaches an all-time high. Some staff members assist Mr. Heckman, our advisor, unload the annuals from the mail truck and store them in a secret place until the formal presentation at our regular annual presentation assembly.
