

Without her everyone would be lost, including her boss, Dr. Stanley Sahlstrom. She's Dorothy Soderstrom, of course.

Some People Who Make Tech Tick

Friendliest group on a friendly campus—this description characterizes the college's service personnel. Whether you are having your registration checked, paying your fees, craving a sandwich, having your temperature taken, asking for help on a campus project, or needing advice in the dorm, some affable person is always available to help.

Though space in the yearbook doesn't permit picturing them all, these pages are dedicated to the more than seventy-five civil service workers who make Tech a pleasant and attractive place to go to school.

Doris Matzke (above) keeps the student affairs and activities office on course.

In the admissions office and placement bureau are three efficient helpers: Connie Moland, Gladys LaCoursiere, and Tillie Gebhardt.
