

The people, yes

People at work

The people in the grand canyon of humanity and many many miles across . . .
The people is Everyman, everybody.
Everybody is you and me and all the others.
What everybody says is what we all say . . .
In the daily labor of the people by and through which life goes on the people must laugh or go down.
. . . Carl Sandburg

