

Queen Una Rae and King Dean.

Anxiously awaiting the coronation are the king and queen candidates. They are Linda Arens, Dean Carlson, Cynthia Dahl, Harlow Grove, Shelly Newell, Don Johnson, Barbara Sorenson, Gregory Kipp, Una Rae Thune, and Danny Motschenbacher.

How not to avoid

Buttons, buttons, all who had buttons had fun January 29 to February 1, the Snow Days weekend. Snow had fallen snow on snow for days, but the temperatures were just right for outdoor activities. Snow sculptures decorated the campus to honor the royalty; DECA sponsored a beard-growing contest; the athletic department provided two basketball games and one wrestling match to view; and ten faculty and student teams gave rough and tumble exhibitions of broomball. As usual, the whole affair ended with a banquet and dance Saturday night. The Senate, with Don Johnson as chairman, were sponsors of the annual winter festival. By the way, the winners of that whisker competition were Frank Magdziarz, Donn Sawyer, and Gary Nichols, in case you girls are interested.

Enjoying a game of broomball are Darryl Hoyle, James Cyr, Dave Baston, Bill Bang, and Dick Stafford. The alumni came back with a tough team to beat, and they won the tourney.
