

These fellows are ag-minded

Officers and adviser of the Flying Trojans pose before their airplane. They are Gene Miller, adviser; Roger Schwenzfeier, president; Dan Skolness, vice-president; and Gerry Olsonawski, secretary-treasurer.

Some men in the agricultural programs like soils, crops, or animals. Agricore and FFA find growing and conserving to their liking. The chief objective of the former is the development of communications skills among members. Officers are Don Martodam, Randy Krueger, Dusty Gilger, and Jim Arvidson. FFA aims to cultivate leadership, social ability, and understanding of agricultural programs. Leading the collegiate chapter are Bob Tisland, Bruce Berg, Chuck Arvidson, and Paul Aakre. As for the Flying Trojans, you guessed it. Their bag is airplanes. Most of them are enrolled in Ag Aviation.

They own a plane! These are the Flying Trojans, a group of aviation fanatics: Miller, Schwenzfeier, Stenland, Skolness, Trangsrud, Olsonawski, Evans, Chrzanowski, Aaseng, Bremer.
