Friday, June 6, 1969. After the big moment when they reach out to take that piece of paper that symbolizes two years of labor and an Associate degree, the sophomores ask, "Where to? What next?" For many it is a challenging job; for a few, military service. Others will continue their education, now or later. Whatever the goal, no one will forget the strong friendships made, the untiring faculty and their encouragement and counsel, and the days of learning, laughter, and excitement that spell life at the University of Minnesota Technical Institute.
