

There's No News Gap

"Ah, the life of a newspaper editor!" says Commentator Chief Curt Burmeister. Curt didn't often have time to put his feet on the desk!

Reporters, reporters, reporters! That was the constant plea heard coming from the desk of Commentator Editor Curt Burmeister, who took the job at the beginning of winter quarter after the resignation of Bob Tisland. Curt captained his four-man team through stormy seas to meet those ever-pressing deadlines and to dig up enough news to make the campus paper an interesting and informative one. Regular reporters, Bev Foss and Nancy Tish, kept students in the know, and sports writer Jerry Lee was in charge of game scores and statistics. Ads were handled by Mark Jurchen. Other writers were Steve Bremer, Dave Korsmo, Clayton Rawhouser, and Kathy Ford. Mrs. R.T. McCulla guided the group.

REPORTERS Bev Foss and Nancy Tish and sports writer Jerry Lee make use of the office equipment while gathering information for their articles.

Business manager Mark Jurchen did a fine job of selling ads and keeping accurate records.

