

The intramural touch football champs, the All Stars, were (FRONT ROW) George Ness, Jon Christensen, Barry Lura, Keith Bjornson, Bruce Berg, Bob Hawkins; (STANDING, Doug Hand, Doug Christianson, Tom Gustafson, Alan Petersen, Jim Schlieman, Ron Thompson, and Paul Aakre.

Again, faculty takes first place! These gentlemen, Dennis Hegle, Dale Knotek, Charles Habstritt, Maurice Paulsen, Marvin Bachmeier, and Herschel Lysaker, won the volleyball championship. Winners of the softball intramurals were the Champion Bullets: Jim Ross, Mike Shannon, Tom Gustafson, Paul Aakre, John Wilkie, (BACK ROW); Randy Tronnes, Bruce Berg, Mike Koch, Merlin Johnson, Cedric Gustafson, (FRONT ROW). Not pictured: Dean Carlson, Jim Schlieman.

Spirited Rivalry Describes These

The Stompers, the Backboard Bums, the Filthy Few! Not new rock groups — just intramural teams from Tech. High-powered competition plus creativity in names marked the program, which this year involved scores of men in touch football, volleyball, basketball, and softball. A few of the dauntless tried hockey, but no squads were organized. For the first time the college was entered in Minnesota Junior College golf play, taking part in five matches in the northern conference. Not enough men came out for tennis to make the organization of a team feasible. The women took part in powder puff football in the fall and in softball in the spring, competing with girls from Corbett. Spurring the varsity on to greater effort was the main sports function of the females and their active groups of cheerleaders.

Receiving the trophy for first place in the basketball intramurals were the Faculty Hustlers: Maurice Paulsen, Marvin Bachmeier, Dale Knotek, Dennis Hegle, Harold Opgrand, and Ralph Nestor.

