

Nimble Cindermen Show Depth, Power

Posting a three-meet winning streak during the indoor portion of their season, the Trojan cindermen got off to a rolling start in April. Obviously stronger than last year's squad, they broke numerous records in relay and field events. The team of seven sophomores and fifteen freshmen displayed tremendous depth as they won victories by margins of as much as twenty-five points. The team suffered their first and only indoor loss to a strong Wahpeton Science aggregation in a dual meet. Because they were not notified of a time change, the Tech striders arrived for only the last half of their first outdoor invitational and placed second among the competitors. At the Region 13 meet they won sixth in a field of fifteen junior colleges. They concluded their season by winning third in the Northern Junior College meet at Mesabi State. Setting new conference records this year were the mile relay team at 3:34 and Lloyd Mayes in the triple jump at 42' 10". Leading point getter and most valuable player was Mayes.
