

Absolutely!

Spring styles and sodas (FAR LEFT), with lively pop tunes, framed the Soda Shoppe style show directed and modeled by fashion merchandising majors. Local teenage girls and twelve Duluth Tech guests viewed everything from sportswear to peasant dresses. Perfect lettering and a determined Steve Lewis (LEFT) worked for a student teacher's approval and a good grade in Merchandise Display. Fraction computations were the puzzlers for Marilyn Kuznia (LEFT). Business Math intrigues Bill Bardow and Ron Whitaker, while others take the "don't touch the stuff" attitude. BELOW: Nurse Virginia Stainbrook makes her point to medical secretary, Janice Paul. Advertising students, Gail Hasz and Pam Heppner (LEFT CENTER), learned about layout on a visit to the city daily. Rosita Vargas (LEFT CENTER BELOW) "computes" many questions for Mr. Paradise to answer in Accounting class.

At the college's Business Activities Day East Grand Forks high school students walked away with most of the honors. Pictured are Sheryl Cobleigh, Mark Hughes, and Sheila Fossen.
