

Man Must Eat, Sleep; So We Have HRI

HRI stand for Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Management, one of the college's fastest growing divisions. Under the dynamic leadership of Ralph Nestor and the assistance of Ella Strand and Brian Harron, the students learn to be semi-professional chefs, dietitians; managers, workers in test kitchens, and numerous other occupations associated with the country's hospitality industry. Upon graduation each will have mastered the fundamentals of food preparation, management techniques, accounting, promotion, and advertising needed for success. Much practical experience is gained through both the school's food service department and an internship at a hotel, motel, club, resort, restaurant, airlines, or hospital.

Ralph Nestor, M.S.
Chairman, Division of HRI

"Crook's Crossing" was the theme of the annual division dinner for the public. Brian Reice dishes up.

Learning about menu design at a nearby motel-restaurant are Keith Ramberg, Marla Peterson, and Darrel Kersting.

