

Fall Brings Out Queens, Pigskins

It rained for the Homecoming game. It snowed for the dance. Everyone thought the decorating would never be completed or the buttons all sold. The candidates chewed their fingernails at the dinner, and MC Jim Sellberg cracked the usual corny jokes. The queen cried. But the Trojans slithered around in the mud and won the game, the band was good, and the Senate ended up solvent, thanks to the committee headed by Mary Hedlund.

From a trio of good lookers, Gayle Delisle, Wanda Christiansen, and Bonnie Berglund, the students chose Wanda as queen. She was no sissy about the rain, or about having escorts Jim Johnston and Steve Daley kiss her.
