

He's Top Man

Think of a nine-letter word meaning energy and you immediately come up with Sahlstrom, Dr. Stanley D. As the provost, his duties and responsibilities are manifold. Yet he finds time to befriend students, advise staff members, entertain dignitaries, chat with visitors, and enjoy his home and family. His hobby? Morgan horses, of which he has several prize winners. Dr. Sahlstrom was awarded all his degrees by the University of Minnesota.

At the spring meeting of the Ag Advisory Committee Dr. Sahlstrom confers with Dr. Don Sargeant, division chairman, on the day's program.
