

Park and Rec, Conservation

In recognition of Arbor Day, May 2, the Hort Club planted a tree on the UMC campus.

An interest in the outdoors and quality of the environment draws students together. Individual interests can be developed through membership in the Conservation, Park and Recreation and Horticulture Clubs.

Activities sponsored by these groups included a smelt fry, placing of boxes for use by wood ducks in nesting, erection of a seven-foot bird feeder on the mall, three planting and Earth Week.

Earth Week activities included tours of the natural history area, a photo contest and speech contest with environment as the theme and a guest speaker.
