

GOOD? BAD? THESE KNOW

Judging teams from the Ag Division had experience again this year in doing a lot of critical evaluating and scenic traveling. At the Chicago International they placed eleventh; at the National Livestock Show in Denver they were third. In Canyon, Texas, crops judges took first; soils, second; and all UMC entries together, second over-all.

These are the NACTA judging teams and coaches after the awards banquet in Canyon, Texas.

UMC's general livestock judges at the National Western Stock Show in Denver: Mitteness, Wieland, Strommen, L. Johnson, Welch, Kappes, Peterson, Coach Tilleraas.

Dan Rodel accepts his team's crop judging award for himself and teammates Bob Sowers and Cheryl Gebhart.

Fun, games, and sleep as the gang travels to Texas, where they placed second over-all in the nation.

This is the soils judging quartet that won second place, with their advisor, Clair Stymiest. They are Tobkin, Blum, Friesan, and Petrich.

Far Right, some of the livestock group practiced en route to Chicago by grading hogs at Iowa State University, Ames. Below: These crop judges took first at Canyon: Dave Rodel, Cheryl Gebhart, Bob Sowers, and Randy Dahl.

