

Truman Tilleraas gives necessary information to his students in an out-of-classroom setting.

Using a welding torch is one way of developing welding skills like the student is doing here.

Gary Mullen and student Annette Potter prepare a horse for riding.

Richard Tillotson looks over some drafting done by one of his students.

(Left) Mike Abel and Kelly Erickson look at soil samples. (Right) Grooming a dairy cow this girl gains some experience in actual dairy herd management.

