

Mens Basketball Team At Work

Under the direction of a new coach, Jim Sutherland, the UMC Trojans were exciting but unfortunate. With Lady Luck turning her back to the team, often in the waning moments, the games were decided by the 'if only's'.

Though many games could have gone in the teams favor, they didn't. Finishing the season without a conference win, the Trojans were the cellar dwellers. Many personnel problems affected the team. Still, the men were spirited and willing to go all-out, in spite of heavy odds, all season long. Dick Watne was the teams most valuable player with his strong rebounding and high scoring.
