

Sno-Daze What A Blast!

The winner of the snow sculpture contest was the Trojan Riders Club with their sculpture of a unicorn. Relaxation was important, too. And hockeyball isn't just a man's sport anymore.

Sno-Daze was a time to see how much fun you could have. Everyone had fun trying to make the best snow sculpture, even though the snow wasn't just right.

There was a week of scheduled events. January 20-26 was the time to be at UMC. Steve Boraas and Kathy Baker were crowned King and Queen. To end a fun week a dance was held at the Upper Deck with the band, "Stonehenge," providing the music.
